

Bat Rabies Education Team (BRET) Members

March 2018

Jennifer Hulseley, RN, BSN, WCC, CPHT

Jennifer is the Director of the Health Science Academy/GCDF at Athens Drive Magnet High School in Wake County, North Carolina. She has 30 years of experience in nursing and 9 years in Career and Technical Education (CTE) Health Science Education, and can teach 8 of the Health Science curriculum's established by the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction.

Jennifer's clinical experience includes public health, long term care and obstetrics and gynecology. She became interested in wounds while working in a variety of healthcare settings in her early years as a nurse. She decided to become certified in wound care in 2006 which allowed her to hold management roles and advocate for commitment to quality healthcare compliance and best practice medicine. She assisted in 2006 with starting up the Duke Raleigh Wound Healing Center in Raleigh, NC serving as the Clinical Nurse Manager with National Healing.

Jennifer's passion is nursing, but her inspiration are the students that she advises in the academy in the Medical, Public Safety and Animal/Ag Sciences pathways. And she is lending her energy and expertise to educating children and parents about bat rabies.