Sara Reilly, BS, MPH

Sara received her B.S. in Biology from Virginia Tech (2012) and her M.P.H in Epidemiology from University of Kentucky (2014). She worked as a veterinary assistant for two years before delving into public health as a Zoonosis Program Specialist for Texas Department of State Health Services. She worked a short time for Virginia Department of Health as a Zika Communicable Disease Data Manager and for Maryland Department of Health as an applied Tickborne Disease Research Epidemiologist. She is now pursuing her DVM at Virginia Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine with an interest in veterinary public health. Sara is an avid outdoors-woman passionate about approaching conservation biology from a public health perspective.
